A New Year, A New You

2018 will be here soon! For many this means making resolutions, but often we tend to focus on their negative habits as areas for improvement. “I’m going to quit drinking soda... No more cigarettes for me... or I’m cutting back on those late night snacks”, seem to end up on many lists year after year.

While, reducing behaviors and choices that we perceive as detrimental is definitely a good thing, there are a lot of other resolutions out there. Recognize the positive things you do in life and think about building on them. Maybe you already take a walk for a half hour every evening, what if you extend it another couple of blocks and make it ten minutes longer? Or instead of reaching for that third cup of coffee in the morning, why not have a hot cup of tea in its place?

New Year’s is also a great time to try new things. It might be trying new foods or participating in new activities. If you’ve always wanted to see what that Yoga class is all about, try it out for a few weeks. Still haven’t been skiing? Give it a try. There are lots of exciting, delicious and healthy recipes out there, so why not try one a week? Developing self-control and discipline may be the toughest part in following through with your resolutions but there is no reason you can’t reward yourself when you are successful. You are only human, so try not be too hard on yourself if you slip up.

Wishing you a happy new year!

Marilyn

“Be at war with your vices, at peace with your neighbors, and let every new year find you a better man.”

- Benjamin Franklin

Recipes to Inspire

Cauliflower “Fried Rice”

Servings: 4; Serving Size: heaping 1 1/3 cups Calories: 108 Fat: 3 g Carbs: 14 Fiber: 6 Protein: 9 g Sugar: 1 Sodium: 868 mg Cholesterol: 47 mg

Ingredients:

- 1 medium head cauliflower, rinsed
- 1/2 cup frozen peas and carrots
- 1 tbsp sesame oil
- 2 garlic cloves, minced
- 2 egg whites
- 5 scallions, diced, whites and greens separated
- 1 large egg
- 3 tbsp soy sauce, or more to taste
- pinch of salt
- cooking spray
- 1/2 small onion, diced fine

Directions: Remove the core and let the cauliflower and dry. Coarsely chop into florets, then place half of the cauliflower in a food processor and pulse until the cauliflower is small and has the texture of rice or couscous - don't over process or it will get mushy. Set aside and repeat with the remaining cauliflower. Combine egg and egg whites in a small bowl and beat with a fork. Season with salt. Heat a large saute pan or wok over medium heat and spray with oil. Add the eggs and cook, turning a few times until set; set aside. Add the sesame oil and saute onions, scallion whites, peas and carrots and garlic about 3 to 4 minutes, or until soft. Raise the heat to medium-high. Add the cauliflower “rice” to the saute pan along with soy sauce. Mix, cover and cook approximately 5 to 6 minutes, stirring frequently, until the cauliflower is slightly crispy on the outside but tender on the inside. Add the egg then remove from heat and mix in scallion greens.

Sicilian Olive Chicken

Servings: 4; Calories: 213 Fat: 8 g Carbs: 26 Fiber: 3 g Protein: 26 g Sugar: 7 Sodium: 606 mg Cholesterol: 63 mg

Ingredients:

- 1 14-ounce can petite diced tomatoes with garlic and olive oil or other Italian-style seasoning
- 1/2 cups frozen chopped spinach, thawed
- 1/4 teaspoon crushed red pepper, or to taste
- 1/3 cup halved Sicilian or other green olives
- 4 4-ounce chicken cutlets
- 1/4 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
- 1 tablespoon capers, rinsed
- 1 tablespoon extra-virgin olive oil

Directions: Combine tomatoes, spinach, olives, capers and crushed red pepper in a bowl. Sprinkle both sides of chicken with pepper. Heat oil in a large skillet over medium-high heat. Cook the chicken until browned on one side, 2 to 4 minutes. Turn it over; top with the tomato mixture. Reduce heat to medium, cover and cook until cooked through, 3 to 5 minutes.

Budgeting for the New Year

If you had a dollar for every New Year's resolution you've broken, what would you do with all that money? If spending was your first thought, here's a resolution that can help your money grow: create and use a budget in the New Year. Start by taking these steps to make a budget.

Gather your bills: Write down your expenses from last month—rent, transportation, grocery costs, and so on. (This budget worksheet can help you get started.) That will help you see what you might spend this month. Then, write down how much money you expect to make in the coming month. Now compare. If your expenses are more than what you'll earn, consider where you can cut back on your spending. If it looks like your expenses will be less than your income, think about whether to spend or save the expected extra money.

Use your budget to plan: Saving for a big purchase? Worried about some unexpected expenses? A budget can help you figure out how you spend your money, and create a plan to help you meet your day-to-day expenses, prepare for emergencies and build savings to meet your long-term goals.

Need more help? Contact the Extension Office 812-256-4591 to sign up for the online version of Where Does Your Money Go. This program is designed to help you better understand how you spend your money. Where Does Your Money Go is made up of Four Lessons:

1. Money: Is There Ever Enough?
2. Money: Where Did It Go?
3. Money: Deciding Where to Spend It
4. Money: Let's Make a Plan

Clark County Ag News

Jan/Feb 2018

ANR Newsletter - A newsletter for homeowners and producers in Clark County about education opportunities and information regarding agricultural production from the Purdue Extension Service.

Put together by Simon Kafari, ANR Educator, Clark County, 9608 Hwy. 62, Suite 1
Charlestown, IN 47111
Phone: (812) 256-4591
Fax: (812) 256-4270
skafari@purdue.edu

The 2017/2018 Purdue Extension calendar started in earnest in September 2017. For 2016/2017, we accomplished a lot together by your participation in programming activities and/or feedback to me. Thanks a lot for all the support you give to Clark County, Purdue University ANR Extension Education programming.

Similar to 2017, we will have fully loaded ANR programming events offered throughout 2018 based on the County's ANR needs Assessment and on your feedback. The ANR programming activities in the County remain dynamic and change with changing needs of the County. If any ANR pressing need comes up or if you think we are overlooking an important ANR need, please do not hesitate to contact me with your input. The views and suggestions of all Clark County residents on further improving on the ANR program are taken seriously and will be reviewed for possible adoption by the County's Ag Advisory Council.

For the 2018 programming year, the ANR program has once again been revised and tailored to the top ANR needs of the county – thanks to the guidance of the Ag Advisory Council and individual producers in the County. Schedules on programming activities as always, will be published in Purdue Extension newsletters, in the local newspapers, on our Facebooks pages and the County Extension website.

I wish you all a happy NEW YEAR!!

Sincerely,

Simon Kafari

Beekeeping club meetings

Location: Food Stand, Clark County 4-H Fairgrounds

The Clark County Beekeeping club will continue its monthly meetings in 2018. Meetings are held the 3rd Wednesday of every month. January and February meetings will be on the 17th and 21st respectfully. The club is open to anyone interested in joining to learn either about beekeeping or help train others on beekeeping.

If you have questions, please contact Ken Peters at 502-558-5940 or email knla@mac.com or the Clark County Extension office by calling 812-256-4591 or emailing Simon Kafari at skafari@purdue.edu. If you need a reasonable accommodation to participate, prior to the day of the event, please contact the Extension office

Joint programming with Clarksville Parks and Recreation

Location: Clarksville Middle School

Clark County Extension is collaborating with Clarksville Parks and Recreation Department on their adult education classes beginning in January and continuing until April. As part of this program, Clark County Extension will offer vegetable gardening classes at the Clarksville Middle School (101 Ettels Ln, Clarksville).

The January class titled "Starting your Vegetable Garden Early and Ending late is not Rocket Science" takes place on January 23rd from 6:30-8:30pm. Most vegetable gardeners look for ways to start the gardening season early and end late. Extending the vegetable gardening season by starting early ensures that gardeners are able to have fresh vegetables from their gardens for most parts of the year. In this class, participants will learn some techniques and tricks on extending the gardening season.

"Gardening AS YOU AGE" will be offered on February 13th from 6:30-8:30pm. Gardening should continue to be as enjoyable when you grow older as it was when you were younger. Adopting techniques that will be easy on your body and use less of your stamina can become necessary if you want to continue to enjoy gardening as you age. This class will teach you how to apply these techniques in your backyard garden.

There is a nominal charge of $3 for each class to meet the cost of presentation handouts.

If you are interested in registering to participate in any of these classes, please visit the Clarksville Parks and Recreation programs website at <http://www.clarksvilleparks.com/programs---classes.html>. If you have questions about these classes or need a reasonable accommodation to be able to participate, you may contact Nathan Kane (Tel: 812-283-1423; Email: nkane@clarksvilleparks.com) with Clarksville Parks and Recreation or Simon Kafari (Tel: 812-256-4591; Email: skafari@Purdue.edu) with the Clark County Extension Office

Raising vegetable seedlings for the home Garden not Rocket Science: Clark County Annual Vegetable Gardening Class Series (January 18th)

Location: Clark County 4-H Fairgrounds

The Clark County annual vegetable gardening class series dubbed "The After Dinner Garden Conversation" starts this January. We will have a series of 9 classes, one class per month on Thursdays from 7-9pm. There will be a fee of $20 for all 9 classes or $5 per class should you decide to only participate in select classes. Participants will get a 3-ring binder with presentations you participate in and enjoy light snacks at every presentation.

If you are a home vegetable gardener, want to learn how to grow vegetables for "healthy eating" or want to use gardening as a means to exercise and/or bond with your children and grandchildren, now is the opportunity to acquire some of the gardening skills you need. You only attend the class that meets your interest.

The January class is titled “Raising Vegetable Seedlings for the Home Garden not Rocket Science”. Raising and managing vegetable seedlings at home can be viewed as daunting if the basic principles are not known and/or not followed. One can easily run into problems such as damping-off that could kill all your seedlings to problems of spindly plants and weak growing seedlings that are not good for the garden. Knowing the right conditions required for raising a vegetable nursery at home such as light, temperature, humidity, applying the right quantities of water and nutrients at the right time and following basic hygienic requirement is all it takes to be successful. This class will take participants through the basics required for raising a successful vegetable nursery at home.

The February 15th class is titled “How to Start Your Garden Early and End Late”. Extending the vegetable gardening season by starting early ensures that gardeners are able to have fresh vegetables from their gardens all year round. It also provides the needed exercise you put in working in your garden, not to talk of the added benefits you get working with and viewing nature. In this class, participants will learn how to use existing cultural practices and apply a few techniques and tricks to extend the gardening season.

Registration is required to attend as a minimum number is required for the program to come on. To register for this event, or if you have questions about the event, please call the Clark County Extension office (812-256-4591) or email skafari@purdue.edu. Should you need a reasonable accommodation to participate, prior to the day of an event, please contact the Extension office at 812-256-4591.

Using soil test and the N rate calculator to spend fertilizer dollars wisely - (February 28th)

Location: Clark County 4-H Fairgrounds.

Clark County Extension will host an Agronomy workshop jointly with Purdue University on February 28th from 6:30-9:00pm at the Food Stand. Dr. Jim Camberato of the Department of Agronomy will be coming to speak on the topic “Using soil test and the N rate calculator to spend fertilizer dollars wisely”. His talk will center on how soil test can be used to put P and K fertilizer where it is most likely to return profit in the short term. He will also discuss the most efficient methods of N application and how to choose an economical N rate.

Simon Kafari will talk on a pesticide regulatory topic “BeeAware” and provide participants with an update on Dicamba. PARP credit is available for successfully completing the class.

Although the workshop is free, registration is required to attend, as a minimum number is required for the program to come on. To register for this event, or if you have questions about the event, please call the Clark County Extension office (812-256-4591). You may also register by sending an e-mail to Skafari@purdue.edu. Should you need a reasonable accommodation to participate in this event, prior to the day of the workshop, please contact the Extension office at 812-256-4591

CLARK WANTS TO KNOW

The winter is upon us and homeowners often have problems with how to manage their gardens in the winter. Rosie Lerner, a Purdue University Extension Specialist with the Department of Horticulture has addressed this need in her publication titled “Winter Garden Calendar” (HO-90-W). It addresses what to do from December to February which includes how to take care of Indoor Plants, Lawns, Woody Ornamentals Landscape Plants, and Fruit Trees. It also offers useful suggestions on how to take care of Flowers, Vegetables, and Small Fruits. Below is the url to the pdf of this publication. Should you have difficulty downloading it or want a hardcopy mailed to you, please call the extension office or send Simon Kafari email (skafari@purdue.edu) with your address and request to mail a copy to you.
